Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

It now appears improbable that there will be a clear issue drawn in the hearing conducted on Angel Island regarding whether or not Harry Bridges is a communist. As a matter of fact we came to the conclusion that he was communist as result of reading his public utterances. So far as this writer is concerned Bridges convicted himself out of his own mouth of not only being a member of the communist party which is a legal party in California, but also, by his actions, of being a communist who justifies terrorism as a means to attain his goal.

The testimony of one Milner, to which reference was made in this column Monday, far from supporting the Government's contention, has weakened it. For Milner under oath declares that he perjured him-self in other cases. His excuse that he did so in order to remain in the good graces of the communists whose secret machinations he was probing, will not alter the fact that he lied under oath. Once he admits that, his testimony ceases to have any value whatever, and becomes, in fact, a detriment to the case which the Government seeks to establish. For, if the Government will use, as its first witness, a man who swears that he has perjured himself in other hearings or trials affecting communists, all the government witnesses become suspect. This kind of testimony is beneath contempt. Perjury is anathema to all honest men, to all lovers of justice. Dean Landis, presiding at the hearing, has properly referred the Milner testimony to the United States district attorney in San Francisco for action.

At this writing a former communist is giving his testimony. Apparently (please note the limitation in the word) he has an intimate knowledge of the strings pulled in Moscow to motivate the communist leadership and personnel in the United States. He has given a circumstantial story of methods used in "planting" communists in the army, navy and national guard, of discontinuance of this penetration, or "boring from within," on orders from Moscow, because it might endanger diplomatic relations between Russia and the United States. But he has told of added pressure to "plant" communists in key positions in union labor organizations, in order to direct or at least influence their activities.

Cross examination of this former communist by the defense, at this writing, is yet to come. It is very possible that he will also be discredited. Even now the defense is branding him as a "traitor," not of course to his country, but to the sacred cause of communism. It will probably develope that the government is unable to produce upstanding, patriotic American citizens, known for their probity and sterling integrity, who, can testify against Harry Bridges. Such men may suspect much, but in the very nature of things they would have no facts to reveal. Men of that calibre can rarely have contacts with communists.

As the hearing proceeds we shall probably have a succession of witnesses, both for the government and for Bridges, of shady character, skulkers from the shadows and the social fringe, slightly lunatic followers of fanatic leaders, spies and counter spies anxious to "make good" on one side or the other, all offering a conflicting mass of testimony, perjury or truth, to "make confusion worse confounded."

The result may easily prove a filthy stalemate, from which Bridges will emerge a "prolitarian" hero. The fact that his bully boys have several times in the last five years halted commerce at one or all ports on the Pacific Coast, that they have precipitated bloody encounters with the authorities and with workers, resulting in maiming and murder, and that all this red leader's tactics and strategy fall within the terrorist and communist pattern that is familiar to intelligent men and women everywhere—all this, lacking legal proof, will go for naught. Bridges would then remain with us "vindicated," a scourge and a pestilence, and an alien and living monument to the ineptitude of our democracy.

DEATH CLAIMS MISS MARGARET KINKAID TODAY

Miss Margaret Kinkaid, aged 69 years, passed away at her home on Park avenue at an early hour this morning after several weeks of illness. She was born on the street where she had spent her entire life. While attending the grammar school in this city her mother died leaving several small children and she left school to care for the family. She was of a retiring, sweet, home loving disposition and her greatest joy was in doing good for others. The passing of her sister, Mrs. Minne Arbogast not quite five months ago was a severe shock from which she never quite recovered.

Left to mourn her passing are a sister, Miss Catherine Kinkaid, and niece, Miss Helen Arbogast, of Nevada City; niece and nephew, Catherine Kinkaid and Clifford Kinkaid of Berkeley.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from Holmes Funeral Home. Interment will be made in the new Odd Fellows cemetery in the family plot. Rev. Ralston of the Methodist church will onduct the services.

WHOLE FAMILY HURT WHEN TIRE BLOWS OUT

Roy Walsh passed through Nevada City yesterday enroute to his home in Washington. He had gone to Hollywood with his wife, daughter and grand child taking them to their home there after a season at Washington. Between Merced and Livingstone a tire blew out on Mr. Walsh's car and the machine turned over on its top. Mr. Walsh pulled away a part of the top and released his family. The top was quite badly mashed and one wheel had to be replaced. Mrs. Walsh and daughter received numerous bruises but all of them were able to continue on to the southern city. Mrs. Walsh is a sister of Andrew, Theodore and Carl Larsen.

RETURNED NEWS WRITER TELLS OF FASCIST ITALY

Exposure to the virus of Fascism during the Ethiopian campaign and during the Spanish civil conflict, failed to make of one American, at least, anything other than a one hundred per cent American; unless one accepts the logical deduction and the personal declaration of this American that he returned to the good old U. S. A. a rabid anti-Fascist,

Such an experience was related by Bert Vanzi, for the past several years a foreign correspondent of the Globe News Syndicate of New York and at present a resident of Grass Valley and sojourner in the Sierras seeking a return to health from a gas attack suffered during the siege of Malaga, in Spain last year.

Vanzi returned to the United States last December and has engaged in a countrywide lecture tour on his experiences in Europe and in Africa, appearing before Chambers of Commerce, college forums, and civic bodies.

He stated during his visit in Downieville that he was born in California of an Italian father and Swedish mother, and his Italian name caused him great difficulty in escaping from Italy with his wife and young son when he returned to that country after the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, which campaign he reported from the Ethiopian side with the troops of the Emperor Haille Selassie. His wife and son, the latter born in Italy during his stay in Ethiouia were declared to be Italian citizens by the Fascist regime under Mussolini, according to Vanzi, and he found it necessary to secure intervention from Secretary of State Cordell Hull before he was able to get clear of Italy. He declared the Mussolini government had him marked out for a series of articles he had written that were considered derogatory to the fascists.

From Italy Vanzi went with his wife and son to Germany, Bulgaria and Russia for short periods and then returned to the United States. Declared the returned news reporter: "These United States are God's green footstool, and the Sierra Nevadas are the throne crowning the most glorious country it is given an enlightened citizenry to inhabit."

Vanzi graduated from the University of California as a mining engineer, and during his inter-term sessions was engaged as a student miner in the 16-to-1 and Colombo mines.—Downieville Messenger.

CITY COUNCIL WILL RESUME WPA PROJECTS

Field Manager Beacon of the Works Progress Administration at a recent meeting with the city council for discussion of projects urged the council to file their applications for projects, either new or for the completion of former projects. He stated that if these requests were put in soon they could probably be obtained.

The council has three projects in mind; completion of sidewalks. This comes first as good sidewalks will be a factor in the granting by the Post Office department of free delivery of mail in this city.

Construction of tennis courts in Pioneers Park which would add much to the usefulness of the park.

And third, the Gault Bridge, which must soon be strengthened or rebuilt.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVER FINED $25

Edward Kinkle of Alleghany who took delivery Sunday of a new car in Grass Valley had an accident with it before reaching his home. Last evening he ran over a stop sign at the junction of Commercial and York streets and struck the car of Buel Richardson of Grass Valley. Miss Helen Winney riding with Richardson received a cut on the face. She was taken into the office of Dr. B. W. Hummelt for treatment.

Kinkle's car has two damaged fenders, buckled hood, broken head lights, broken bumper and radiator grill. Both cars were towed away from the scene of the accident. Riding with Kinkle were his wife and daughter, Ila Kinkle. Kinkle's car hit the Ford coupe of Richardson just past the center.

Chief of Police Garfield Robson arrested Kinkle for reckless driving in running over the stop sign. He plead guilty in City Judge Miles Coughlan court this morning and was fined $25.

GIANT KING TO REOPEN WEDNES.

A crew will start mining at the Giant King mine Wednesday. This property is situated on Washington Creek south of Washington. Four men have spent the past five days repairing and grading the road from near the junction of the Tahoe Ukiah highway and Washington road, into the mine in order to bring in machinery and equipment.

There are about 100 acres in the property which is owned by William Luce of Reno. Considerable development has been done by tunnel method.

Today men started grading for a mill site and when completed it is planned to put up a one hundred ton mill. It is expected the mill will be in operation in about 90 days.

C. Patterson, structural engineer and contractor and W. E. Narkaues, mining engineer widely known, have taken over the property. Narkaues will be general manager of the mine. John Rondoni of Nevada City will be mine superintendent.

TWICE AS MANY FIRES TO DATE AS LAST YEAR

Fire Dispatcher E. L. Stone lists fires in the Tahoe National Forest as A, one fourth acre or less; B, one fourth acre to 10 acres; C, 10 acres and over.

Fires by ranger districts in the Tahoe National Forest show the following for the first ten days of July and for the district to date.

North Bloomfield, one smoker fire, one miscellaneous, or two Class A, with five A fires and two B fires for the district to date.

Big Bend, one camper fire and one smoker fire, two Class A, three A and one B to date.

Camptonville, one smoker fire and in Class A, only one A fire to date.

Downieville, one smoker fire Class A, for the ten day period and one C fire to date.

Forest Hill one smoker fire, one Class A to date.

Sierraville, none during the ten days but seven A fires to date.

Truckee, one smoker fire in Class A, 13 A fires and one C fire to date.

This makes a total of eight fires for the ten days, seven A and one C fire.

Total fires to date eight by lightning; seven campers; 18 smokers; one debris; one incendiary; two miscellaneous or a total of 37 fires.

Thirty of the fires were in Class A, four in Class B and three in Class C.

Last year the fires to date were, lightning six, campers, two; smokers three; debris, three, incendiary one and miscellaneous, two, making a total of 19 fires. Thirteen were Class A, five Class B and only one in Class C. There have been nearly twice as many fires this season as last year to date. Total acreage burned to date this season 990 acres while last year there were only 209 acres. Mr. Stone comments:

"We are getting a substantial increase in man caused fires which are occurring in well defined areas. Are patrolmen contacting streams and side roads? Will more patrol trips do the job. The job calls for more "prevention" if the increase in these man caused fires is to be stopped."

PLEADS GUILTY TO DRUNKEN DRIVING

Saturday evening Night Officer Frank Misner arrested William Waxner, who it is stated was driving a car while in an intoxicated condition and locked him up. Chief of Police Robson filed a complaint against the man. He was brought into the city court this morning where he pleaded guilty. He is to appear July 21 for judgment. His car is still impounded in the city garage.

MINING CO. SUES ON POLLUTED WATER CHARGE

The Yuba River Mines, Inc., of which L. L. Larrabee is president, filed a suit in the superior court today asking $500 damages and an injunction restraining A. E. Von Goerlitz, operating the Keller mine near Graniteville, from allegedly polluting the water of a stream in National Ravine which runs by the former's property along the Yuba river. The suit charges the plaintiff has been unable to conduct mining operations as a result of the alleged pollution.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

The Nevada County Board of Equalization is meeting today as a board of equalization on taxes in the county. The meetings are held each Monday in this month and another will be held next Monday the last day in the thirty day period. They are going over the assessment rolls as presented by the assessor's office. So far no complaints have been entered.

The Tahoe National Forest had one small smoker fire on the bank of the North Yuba river near Downieville during the past week end. It was near the highway also and was extinguished before doing any damage. It burned over about three-tenths of an acre.

Trustees Of Tomorrow

Nearing completion in the Black Hills of South Dakota is the 12-year task of sculpturing on a great mountain gigantic heads of four great Americans, Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Those portraits, while artistically magnificant, have a historic flaw in common with famed group portaits of members of the Continental Congress and the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The flaw is that most such heroes invariably are pictured in old age or late middle age—although youth, daring and brilliant, was largely responsible for creating this nation and shaping its destiny.

In 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed, Alexander Hamilton was a youth of 19. The immortal Jefferson, who write it, was only 33; The intellectual but erratic Aaron Burr was 20; Henry "Lighthouse Harry" Lee, outstanding military officer, was 20! George Washington was comparatively an oldster—at 44! Theodore Roosevelt was a New York legislator at 23, candidate for mayor of New York at 28: Lincoln began public life in the Illinois legislature when but 25!

Men now young will lead America on a near tomorrow. Who are they? No one knows where the lightening will strike. Old Bob LaFollette is gone—but his sons are making their marks in his home state and in congress. California has young men of promise, such as Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, who ranks as one of the youngest and ablest educational executives in the nation, and the vigorous Dick Olson, who seems the sort to want to forge ahead "on his own" and not on the momentum of being the governor's son. And New York's youngish, dynamic Prosecutor Dewey is looming as a possible candidate in next year's presidential election!

As always, youth will be served. Making his maiden speech in the House of Commons, Benjamin Disraeli, aged 33, shouted defiantly: "I sit down now, but the time will come when you will hear me!" That young man became England's greatest statesman. Years later, he wrote:

"The Youth of a Nation are the trustees of Posterity."—Contributed.

Mutiny On The Bounty

The strangest, most preposterous mutiny in all history was launched last week on the biggest liner ever floated on the industrial seas—mutiny by members of the WPA crews of the good ship Federal Bounty.

Other ships have foundered in the stormy weather of late years. Buffeted vessels of private industry have gone down here and there, and their anxious crews have struggled gamely to get new jobs—berths of any sort on any ship. But the WPA ship was equipped with every safety device, the government could provide. So huge it had a crew of millions, its pay list was guaranteed by the crews and owners of the individual ships of Commerce, Industry and Agriculture—who chipped in their taxes to maintain the gigantic craft.

But the WPA crew struck—because a ship's plumber, receiving $84 a month for 42 hours' labor, was asked to work 5 hours a day, six days a week! That crew's mutinous leaders struck against the most generous Captain a crew ever had—Uncle Sam.

They struck against the government that built their vessel; against the law and against the real owners of the good ship Federal Bounty, the American people. And the Captain, at this writing, has sternly ordered those mutineers to report for duty, or to go ashore and look for something else, while he puts the Bounty out of service. Before it is to late, those crewmen might ponder the old maximum: "Beware the wrath of a patient man!"—Contributed.

INDICTMENT DISMISSED

The perjury indictment against John Mikulin, on motion of the district attorney, was dismissed last Friday in the Superior Court. District Attorney Stoll held that the prospect of conviction was slight. Mikulin was accused of swearing falsely when he sought compensation asserting he had contracted silicosis in the Murchie mine. In his application stated he had never worked underground elsewhere than in the Murchie. He was proved to have worked for some time in a Hetch Hetchy tunnel project. While waiting for trial in the county jail he became ill and was transferred to the county hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Coughlan and son, Carrall Coughlan, spent Sunday at the fair on Treasure Island.

Margaret Gillon, 10 years old, a patient in St. Clare's hospital, New York, where she is recovering from two operations, holds a pigeon which flew from Elizabeth, N. J., recently, bringing her a canary, the gift of J. N. (Ding) Darling, cartoonist and outdoor enthusiast. The canary is in the small aluminum pullman on the pigeon's back. The pigeon flew 20 miles against a strong wind in 40 minutes without mishap.

EVERY EMPLOYER MUST REGISTER

SACRAMENTO, July 17.—A drive to register every California employer was initiated by the State Department of Employment today, as a protective measure for employees in this state.

Carl L. Hyde, executive director of the Department, said several thousand employers, who are not subject to pay unemployment insurance contributions, have so far failed to register.

He pointed out the law requires every employer, whether subject or not, to give the Department a record of employment, so that determination can be made on subjectivity. To date 50,000 employers are subject to the act.

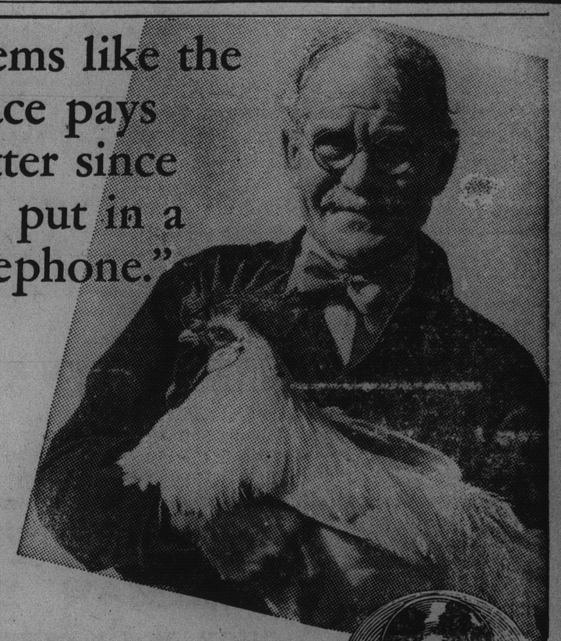
The present law providing for unemployment insurance, Hyde says, requires payment of contributions from employers hiring four or more persons for a minimum of twenty days in a year, each day being in a separate calendar week.

However, he pointed out, the Department receives many claims for insurance listing employers who have not registered. In these instances, [illegible] in determining whether or not the claimant is entitled [illegible] basis of his earnings with the non-registered employer.

Officials of the Department said 40 per cent of the unregistered employers are in Southern California, 37 per cent in the San Francisco area, and 14 per cent in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

Miss Catherine Davis left Sunday for Sacramento where she is visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wisker and Miss June Packard.

"Seems like the place pays better since we put in a telephone."



"I can call the commission people or the farm adviser...or reach my neighbors easier. And we hear from folks oftener, too. Yes sir, it pays to have a telephone."

NOW ARE THERE ANY QUESTIONS?

This information service on education is brought to you by special arrangements with Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City. Questions on education may be submitted through this newspaper.

QUESTION: How can parent help a child get over childish fears?

REPLY: There are many reasons for children's fears, some of them very difficult to trace. Sudden noises, association of objects with some painful experience, a parent's fear communicated, threats by parents, stories of spooks by playmates, a general feeling of emotional insecurity, all may cause a child to become fearful. Once a fear has taken root it is often difficult to eliminate and may cause the child great suffering and be a considerable handicap in his general development.

Studies conducted at the Child Development Institute at Teachers College, Columbia University, indicate that one of the best ways to deal with a child's fear is to help him master it through his own direct experience. If he is afraid of heights, let him first try standing on small elevations with a friend or parent at hand, and then, as confidence is attained, let him try at higher and higher levels. If he is afraid of a dark closet, the closet might be made part of a game in which, the mother close at hand, the child goes in and out of the closet and gradually becomes accustomed to it. Similarly a fear of animals may be remedied by gradually accustoming the child under pleasant circumstances to the presence of a cat or dog.

A calm example of a parent often helps. If the child is afraid of thunderstorms, a calm, matter of fact attitude by an older person will guide the child to a similar attitude. Laughing at the child or trying to talk him out of his fear are not effective remedies.

In cases of deep seated emotional insecurity the remedy is more difficult. Here the answer lies in removing the feeling of insecurity, showing the child that he is loved and wanted, building up confidence and a feeling of security.

A frequent cause of children's fears is a parent's threatening the child in order to keep discipline. Threatening to call a policeman, to lock the child up in a dark room with the bogy, to desert him, all can do great harm to the emotional stability of the child, and cause him great hardship.

Parents often can prevent fears from arising. If the child is to be taken somewhere where unusual noises or sights frighten him, an explanation beforehand may help.

QUESTION: Tas any definite relation been found between an increase in recreation facilities for children and a decrease in the amount of juvenile delinquency?

REPLY: As far as known, no nationwide figures have been compiled on this point. In many communities, however, it has been found that with an increase in recreational facilities juvenile delinquency has decreased very sharply. In the last five years in New York City recreation facilities available to children have trebled and the number of arrests for juvenile delinquency has fallen 50 per cent from over 6,000 in 1933 to a little over 3,000 in 1938.

QUESTION: How many who finish grade school go on and finish high school?

REPLY: Preliminary tabulations from a survey being made by the Division of Social Research of the WPA indicate that of every 100 completing the 8th grade 65 graduate from high school. 46 of these 65 leave school on receiving their high school diploma. Only 19 enter college.

Clifford Holmes of Sacramento spent Sunday in Nevada City visiting Tom Rickard. Holmes lives in Auburn but enjoys a visit to Nevada City where it is cooler.
